Northeast Ohio. Today, WRHS collects, preserves, and presents the history of Northeast Ohio to connect with people, inspiring them to discover themselves, their families and communities by exploring the past and imagining the future. This is achieved through a combination of exhibits, programs, and events for all ages and interests. The WRHS collections are vast and varied. The library/archives hold millions of items including books, photographs, manuscripts, and documents, making it a premier research institute for scholars, the general public, and genealogists. Highlights of the collection include Civil War materials, various ethnic and community collections such as those of the African-American, Jewish, Italian, and Irish histories of the region, and extensive business, industrial, philanthropic, entrepreneurial, and political records. The WRHS historic costume and textile collection is one of the largest in the United States. The institution's collections of items related to the Shaker communities is, in fact, the largest in the U.S. The decorative arts collection includes about 3,500 artifacts owned by early residents of the Western Reserve, and approximately 800 paintings reflecting the history of the region. The Crawford Auto Aviation Museum contains more than 157 cars, 10 airplanes, and numerous motorcycles, bicycles, and other automotive-related items. Along with the library's automotive marque files, the Crawford collection tells the story of the automotive industry, particularly in Northeast Ohio. In November, 2014, the iconic Euclid Beach Park Grand Carousel opened to the public after restoration, housed in a spectacular glass pavilion. This was made possible through collaboration generations of the Hale family used the land and resources to carve out a niche for themselves in the Cuyahoga valley. The museum builds its programming and operations with reverence for the Hales' entrepreneurial spirit combined with a deep respect for the past. The goal is to build sustainable operations through engaging educational, family, and community programs. The year-round program calendar follows the seasonal cycle of rural life in Northeast Ohio. Annual program highlights include the summer Civil War encampment which draws hundreds of Civil War reenactors and thousands of visitors. Civil War-era history and interpretation is a hallmark of Hale programming featured in annual holiday lantern tours of the village and the Underground Railroad education program. Harvest Festival is another annual event drawing thousands of visitors participating in harvest season activities. Hale increasingly considers the connection between entrepreneurship and sustainability in its programs. Student education programs teach the principles of economics in everyday life by exploring the roots of entrepreneurship in Northeast Ohio and considering wise use of limited resources. The phrase "Come home to Hale" aptly describes the visitor experience at Hale Farm & Village where one may connect with the past and find its relevance for the present and the future.
